

Captain Bill Pfanstiel

Captain Bill first learned to sail in 1982, on an M-Scow on Lake Galeana outside Doylestown, PA. Captain Bill says that it was not an easy boat to learn on, but it set him on his course to learn all he could about boats and sailing. Bill has since moved on to a Com-Pac 23/II, which his wife Marj and he sail on Lake Nockamixon and on the Chesapeake Bay. Captain Bill is a graduate of the Nockamixon Sailing School, and has a USCG Captain's license as well as ASA instructor's certifications for ASA 101 (Basic Keelboat) and ASA 103 (Basic Coastal Cruising). Bill enjoys chartering on the Chesapeake Bay, and has been captain and crew on sailboats ranging in size from 36 to 39 feet. Bill also likes to read books about nautical history. Bill's dream is to sail the Chesapeake Bay from top to bottom in his Com-Pac 23.
