

Captain Robert Cohen

Captain Rob's journey as a sailor began as a teenager on rented Sunfish. As he strolled around marinas, he dreamed of someday owning a sailboat of his own. After acquiring certification in Basic Keelboat Sailing and Basic Cruising in the 1990's, he pulled the trigger and purchased a "Precision 21" in 2004. Rob raised his children on that boat, and they are accomplished adult sailors in their own right today.

Over the next 20 years, Captain Rob took great pleasure in explaining the concepts of sailing. It has always been his passion. On his "Precision 21" at Lake Nockamixon, Rob has informally taught countless passengers of varying abilities to sail safely and with confidence. That provided a strong foundation for teaching in a more formal setting. Rob spent many years expanding his breadth of sailing experience by skippering 35-45 ft sailboats throughout the Chesapeake Bay and around the British Virgin Islands — but he never lost his fondness for his home port on Lake Nockamixon.

Captain Rob is currently a certified ASA instructor in "Keelboat Sailing 1 (ASA101)", "Keelboat Sailing 2 (ASA102)" and "Basic Cruising (ASA103)". Rob also has a USCG OUPV Captains License. He looks forward to sharing his passion for sailing as an instructor at Nockamixon Sailing School.
